

PNEUMATIC REVERSING DEVICE

This device is activated pneumatically from the PLC. The rotary actuator then starts a cycle, whereby a component within the machine is repeatedly set in motion mechanically before being returned to its original state.

Thanks to the special plastic and our carefully designed slide bearings, this device is perfectly tailored to the customer's application and the machine life cycle.